FATHER GRACE

It was once a lovely scene
The sky was blue, the grass was green
But look at US now
What have we become?

Forgive us. YES! We make mistakes
Ignoring sunlight in our days
As long as hearts keep in touch
The purpose is fulfilled

Father Grace
Take us to the place
There where we belong

Just close your eyes- leave all your care's
What you believe will take you everywhere
To that room in your heart
Admission price: L.O.V.E

Echos of a glorious past
Resonates through days of last
Another world is waiting
Inside from above

Father Grace
Take us to the place
There where we belong

It's a kiss away
Turning night to day
The time is moving on

Clouds disappear- a perfect view
The grass is green the sky is blue
Take a look at us now
The world is in our hands

Father Grace...
