

'A melancholic song and true story...all instruments and vocals by WZ'

IN THE END

Sweet little girl -you shed all your tears
She left a drama in your heart
Without a word she suddenly disappeared
Forgive her- for tearing your world apart

She is still close to you- she left a sunbeam in your dreams
That all- embracing love, love is there and in- between

Why is it too late?
For a last word, for a last kiss?
Time was stolen, stolen by fate
We can't keep that rain from falling- in the end...

It's so unreal to see her smile- in your eyes
And it helps to ease the pain
Although her light slowly disappeared
Faded rose in the middle of the pouring rain

She is still close to you- she left a sunbeam in your dreams
And all- embracing love, love is there and in- between

Why is it too late?
For a last word, for a last kiss?
Time was stolen, stolen by fate
We can't keep that rain from falling- in the end...

Don't let your colors fade away
Time will dry those lonely tears
Leafes were fallin' that rainy November day
Just one moment erased all those years

Why is it too late?
For a last word, for a last kiss?
Time was stolen, stolen by fate
We can't keep that rain from falling- in the end...